

///Technical Issue

Security operations involve high interaction costs among users with different objectives and backgrounds.

///Research Goal

Automate security operation process using generative AI to reduce inquiry and coordination costs to “zero.”

---Technology

- Combining NTT's security expertise and LLMs to generate high-quality automated reports.
- Analyzing internal and external data to create up-to-date threat reports for the organization and users.

---Novelty

- By converting NTT's extensive knowledge into a structured resource, security operations support tailored to users' roles (CISO, security staff, system administrators, etc.) can be provided.

---Applicable Business

In the field of security, this can be used for formulating internal security policies and collecting security information, as well as responding to vulnerabilities in the operation of internal security controls. (To be registered by the end of FY2024)